

Equality, diversity and inclusion committee, office or officer

1. Gender and Child Research Center of Universitas Padjadjaran

This research center envisions becoming a leading hub for the study and reference of gender issues and women's empowerment, with a strong commitment to gender equality at the local, national, regional, and international levels.

The main goal of the Women's Role Research Center is to conduct strategic research and gender-perspective training across various social, cultural, economic, and political life domains, to produce scientific findings and provide recommendations to stakeholders for improving gender understanding and women's empowerment in Indonesia.

Establishing mutually beneficial cooperation and networking with various community groups, including women's organizations at the local, regional, national, and international levels, which have the potential to actively participate in research and efforts to address issues concerning women, children, and persons with disabilities in Indonesia.

<https://www.instagram.com/pusrisgaunpad/>

2. Task Force for Preventing and Handling Sexual Violence

In addition to the issue of Gender and Sexual Violence, Universitas Padjadjaran also has an Ethics Committee and a Disability Task Force. The task of this Task Force is to conduct various publications and campaigns about disability-friendly campuses, provide consultations on disability assistance practices in faculties and other work units at Unpad, including through a disability-friendly website, provide consultations for Lecturers and Education Personnel in supporting students with disabilities, conduct periodic evaluations of special service programs implemented and continuously improve services.

task force for preventing and handling sexual violence

<https://www.instagram.com/ppksunpad/?hl=en>

3. Student Task Force for Persons with Disabilities at Universitas Padjadjaran

The Task Force for Students with Disabilities at Universitas Padjadjaran has the duty to support the creation of an inclusive and disability-friendly campus environment. This task force carries out various important roles, including:

1. Conducting publication and campaigns to create awareness of the importance of a disability-friendly campus.
2. Providing consultation services related to disability assistance practices in all work units and faculties at Unpad, including through disability-friendly online media.
3. Providing consultation to lecturers and education staff in order to support students with disabilities.
4. Establishing cooperation with various disability organizations to expand networks and strengthen support.
5. Organizing training or supervising training for volunteers, lecturers, education staff, and students on important matters such as the use of sign language, assistive tools, and ethics of interaction.
6. Designing and proposing various forms of programs and policies for special services for students with disabilities.
7. Coordinating services and direct assistance for students with disabilities.
8. Coordinating and socializing with all university elements including leaders, lecturers, academic staff, and administration to realize accessible services and facilities in all aspects.
9. Conducting regular evaluations of the services that have been provided and continuously making improvements to increase the quality of these services.